What's on the Shelf
PANTRY JAR INVENTORY

CANNING SHELF

I keep my jars in the hallway, the freeze-dried bags in the attic and under the beds, and the whole map in my head. (Organized in my head, not in real life!) Write it down here instead, and you'll always know what you have and where it's hiding.

Pantry / shelf: _____ Updated: _____ Page _____ of _____

Contents	Jar size	Date canned	Qty	Location	Used tally marks	Notes

MAMA TIP First in, first out: put new jars in the back and pull from the front. For best quality, plan to eat home-canned food within about a year. Store jars cool, dark and dry with the rings off, and toss any jar with a bulging or unsealed lid, leaks, or off smells.

© 2026 FREEZE DRYING MAMA